

DO NOT change the present "no call" situation. The wonderful peace and quiet provided by the present Wisconsin regulations is a blessing. Any federal changes that would weaken what we now have in Wisconsin would be a definite disservice. There are actually days when the phone never rings now, except for calls from friends and relatives. Leave things alone. They are perfect now. The only reason banks are asking for a change, is to increase their access in order to increase their financial gain. There is no way they could justify a change in the law as a betterment of, or service to the public. The only justification seems to be increased access for increased profit. BE COURAGEOUS AND SIMPLY SAY NO. (Now, what about spam and spyware on the internet?)
